Professional Experience

In 2014 Jane took the opportunity to rejoin Architectus, having first worked for the practice as a new graduate in the Auckland office.

Jane has a broad range of experience in the commercial, education, retail, and residential sectors in New Zealand as well as in the United Kingdom where she spent ten years working on a number of high profile commercial and mixed-use developments in London.

Jane has proven ability in the management of project teams, working closely with consultants and contractors while maintaining a strong client focus. She has worked in all stages of the design, development and delivery of projects and has expertise administering projects on site, and is experienced in a variety of project delivery methods.

She is responsible for leading in-house teams to produce and deliver detailed design packages on a multi-unit residential development and education projects.

Jane has relished the opportunity to play a major role in the Christchurch office on a range of projects in the rebuild of her hometown and is a keen participant in local design forums, having been one of the coordinators of the 2013 Architecture + Women Exhibition in Christchurch and a speaker at the 2015 Heritage Week Christchurch Civic Trust Forum on 'The Future of Cathedral Square'. She has been a member of the Auckland NZIA Local Branch Awards Jury and is on the Advisory Committee to ARA as an industry advisor.
